RENAISSANCE Starts!

We have a full field of six for "Ac Paet Woes God Cyning" so that begins this time. However neither DUNE nor TITAN had more than three confirmations, so we have no start there. We'll keep them open hoping for more players, but willopen up others. Really can't do JUNTA or WIZARD'S QUEST until I work out a postal system. Next one-page game in highest demand is (shudder) DOWN WITH THE KING (Reference 1), with effectively three signed up (both Andersons can't play since they share an e-mail address and a hard-copy). CIRCUS MAXIMUS (Reference 2) and GUNSLINGER need five more.

By the way, whilst on the road, I picked up the expansion set for SETTLERS OF CATAN, so we can now do 5- & 6-player games henceforth. Also got UNION PACIFIC, a nifty little game that plays in under two hours, and won a copy of PRAIRIE RAILROADS.

STANDBY ALERT! The following position is available: AIR BARON: ARA.

BORIS'S BULLETIN BOARD

THOUGHT FOR THE MONTH: "The most important trip you may take in life is meeting people halfway." --Henry Boye

I raided a couple of gamestores and homebrew shops on my recent sojourn and would highly recommend The Gameboard in Chattanooga (in the Hamilton Mall, I-75, Exit 5) and The Game Keep outside of Nashville (Reference 3).

BOOS & KUDOS

This month's Madame Bolduc Press Excellence Award (and free issue) goes to Kevin Wilson for his "Turkey-GM" article in "Boris XV".

This month's Ms Nar Super-Sudsy Bomb is lobbed at Chad Wertz for very late orders.

8. Don't trust Italy.
And that's just a start.

Italy has stabbed his allies and cannot be trusted for an alliance with anyone. Therefor it is decreed the great nation of France declares war on Italy until death is achieved

Emissaries have been seen consistently running between France Germany and Turkey. The other countries have lacked continual communications and made it very hard to conduct long term planning by any of the three countries other than themselves. They call only when something is needed of them or they were in trouble.

ITALY STABBED!! England doomed!

ERRATA: Germany may build one.

MINAS MORGUL: Now that the British are no longer an irritant, President Curtis has shifted the focus of the French attack against Italy and should eviscerate that nation this year. The Kaiser could intervene on behalf of either side, but looks to be about to launch Operation Sea Lion. A fight with the French is inevitable, so perhaps the invasion of the boot is sufficient casus belli. A more interesting question is to where will the harried Turkish fleet retreat.

EMBASSY BEAT

Turkey to Germany: How prophetic your words are. When I believe I had finally mended some fences with Italy, his true colors show again. Words cannot express my disappointed. It's frightening when someone else knows us better than we know ourselves.

Turkey to France: Your German ally was entirely correct. Regardless of what I had previously told you. Learn from him.

Turkey to Italy: Damn it! I thought you could see it was stand together or die together. But I guess not.

Turkey to GM: Lessons I've learned in Diplomacy.

1. Tactics are easy. Strategy is hard.
2. Don't trust Italy.
3. Write to everyone, even if they can't help or hurt you now. They may in the future.
4. Don't trust Italy.
5. Think at least 2 moves ahead. Further if you can.
6. Don't trust Italy.
7. Keep a record of everything you say. Especially if you tell a lie.

Austria Occupied!!

Fall 1524

RAGNOCITTA: The once-mighty Hapaburgs have been laid low and will not be able to interfere with Italy's internecine struggles for decades. The question of the moment is, however, "Who is now the prime Power?" Both France and Venice could lay a claim on this distinction based on their armies. The Turk could do so based on his fleets.

Austria: Emperor Anderson and his new wife left for the rest of the game to Germany. Sign me up for the next game.

Austria to Florence- 1. Could you please send me a copy of your latest issue. 2. Is anyone doing Niccolo anymore??

Papacy: The cardinal scurried into the the dark chamber under the St. Peters, a chamber few knew about, and most who did wished they hadn't. "Your Holiness, Venetian forces are moving away from the front!" The Pope turned around from his work and looked slackjawed at the messenger. The red hot poker fell from his hand and clattered to the floor and echoed through the dungeon.

"So...this Venetian dog was telling the truth all the time. Well, at least we had some fun watching him writhe in agony." The cardinal blanched at the sight of the Venetian prisoner on the rack behind the white robes of the Pope. The Pontiff adjusted his robes and said, "That Duke is a wily sort. Clearly he meant to confuse our enemies with some misdirection. He is far smarter than his missives to us reveal. He bears closer scrutiny."

The cardinal waited for a pause and then included. "The Duke also mentioned wanting to buy some indulgences, your holiness."

"Did he send any ducats to assuage the Lord's ill will? It will be costly to regain the favors of the most Holy. We shall see if he backs up his promise with cold, hard cash."

With a wave of his hand the Pope dismissed the cardinal who looked back to see the Pope turn to the prisoner, smile and mutter, "Now...what to do with you?" as he reclaimed his poker.

- Svenotti, we've had French diplomats running around the house all summer. Are you sure they are not up to anything?

- Nah Sir, sure the message is clear. Join now or fight, but he's absolutely serious.

- We'll see about that, Svenotti. I have my suspicions. Wanted us to vacate Milan this turn. We haven't even gained control over it yet.

- But we control the whole province, isn't it enough?

- With no threat, yes, but with so many armies around I am not so sure. We'll bide our time until we're more certain about the intentions.

RUSSIAN CIVIL WAR LENIN SPEAKS!

DIM Fisher: "Comrades! After 15 years of struggle, the workers and peasants, under the glorious leadership of our founder, comrade Lenin, have defeated the Capitalists, and the Revisionists who would betray our Revolution. Although Poland and the Baltic States remain--for now--in the Capitalists' grasp, Finland, Belorussia, the Ukraine, and the Caucasus have been transformed into a Workers' Paradise."

I started the game with a weak Red faction (despite Lenin) and a strong White faction. Since I believe the Reds have an easier time of it in RCW, I traded away my strong White faction for a strong Red faction. (This helped the Whites as well, since it concentrated White strength.) Since I believe also the Whites have their uses--mostly getting killed for assassination attempts or VP--I traded away isolated Red Leaders for some White strength.

All the Red players (without consulting one another) attacked the German occupiers the first turn using Subversion. I eliminated several myself--and the Germans left after the first turn. I attacked the American interventionists the second turn--and the US left after the second turn. I completely wiped out my own British interventionists on the third turn. Thus, I received lots of VP before other players, and once the forces were gone, the others had less opportunity to gain VP.

I lost lots of combat units due to Epidemic, but I was lucky enough to receive control of the Finns--and to catch Kolchak (a major White leader) with the Finns. Once the action had shifted permanently away from St. Petersburg and Archangel, I wiped out the Finns, and most of my White strength, for the VP.

By this time I felt I had enough VP to risk hunting players. (Before this, I tried to stay in hard-to-reach places.) In the Play-By-Mail rules, it is almost impossible to catch other units that are moving. (I would recommend using e-mail for sequential movement.) I tried to limit players' movement options by placing multi-colored forces at frequently traveled Railroad junctions, with some success.

On turn ten, and thereafter, I routinely lost Red leaders due to Purges by other players. However, the VP I received through combat is permanent--people will betray you, but dead is always dead! I caught another group of Whites on turn ten, and thereafter used my Poles to eliminate my own Red leaders before (and after) they were purged away.

I enjoyed my conversations with the other players. I enjoyed playing a game that I haven't played in a long time. I look forward to doing both again in the future.

A hardcopy sub will also include an E-mail sub. Make checks payable to "Paul Bolduc". BORIS can be reached at (850) 863-9081, or pbolduc@aol.com. If phoning, expect to be greeted by an answering machine.
